

2021 Beekeepers Virtual Conference

Managing Bees, Varroa, and Nutrition

Saturday, February 6, 2021, 9am – 4pm MST

Join the New Mexico Beekeepers Association for a virtual conference with beekeepers, scientists, and educators for an all-day program of informative and inspiring talks on the latest in beekeeping research, philosophy and practical management tips for your beekeeping success.

Randy Oliver, Scientific Beekeeping, Grass Valley, California

“Managing Varroa: Understanding Mite Population Dynamics and Best Timings for Treatments”

“2020 Hot-Weather Trial of Varroa Treatments and Update on Extended-Release Oxalic Acid”

Margarita López-Urbe, Ph.D., and Robyn

Underwood, Ph.D., Penn State Extension, and three-person local panel TBA

“Beekeeping Philosophy and the Range of Options in Management Practices”

Keith Delaplane, Ph.D., Professor of Entomology, University of Georgia

“What Bees in Nature Can Teach Us”

“Mutiny and Other Things That Can Go Wrong (Besides Mites)”

Ramesh Sagili, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Department of Horticulture, Oregon State University

“Honey Bee Nutrition: What We Know and Need to Know”

$30. Register at www.nmbeekeepers.org